Sundt Construction Opens new Tucson Headquarters inside Diamond Venture's Riverside Crossing Project

Tucson, Ariz. (March 1, 2010) — Commercial contractor Sundt Construction has completed construction of their new 46,000-square-foot, two-story headquarters. The modern building is located inside Diamond Venture's (DVI) Riverside Crossing project located at West River Road and North La Cholla Boulevard. A company spokesman said Sundt needs the office space for its mostly white-collar Tucson operations, but that it also shows Sundt's optimism and commitment to Tucson, company spokesman Charlie Boyd said.

DVI's President David Goldstein sees the new Sundt headquarters as a compliment to other corporate buildings at Riverside Crossing, "We could not be more excited about the building Sundt has constructed. It is a compliment to our other partners and a visual statement about the quality of the entire project." He further added, "With Sundt completed and the hotel in the planning stage, we only have a single restaurant pad left to sell. We are excited that even during these challenging economic times this project has continued to succeed. We attribute that to the excellent location and the quality of our partners."

Sundt, which has done major public and private projects throughout the western United States, has divisions to handle work ranging from road construction, dams, wastewater plants and runways to office buildings, schools, shopping malls, hospitals and military housing.
